Piece name: Coastal Allure

The iconography of my piece is the passage of time and treasured experiences, with the dried flowers and pearls hinting at vintage or sentimental value. The warm color palette and organic textures create a feeling of warmth and connection to nature, reflecting a love for the ocean, summer, or cherished past moments. I love summer, and these elements all together bring back so many good memories of the carefree days of summer.

I combined natural and modern elements in my piece to create a balanced and engaging composition. The base layer of dried flowers and seashells adds texture, blending soft and structured forms. The three Sol de Janeiro fragrance bottles serve as the focal point, their bold colors drawing attention against the neutral background. Jewelry pieces, including pearls and rings, add detail and repetition, while the pink sunglasses introduce a modern touch that contrasts with the vintage aesthetic. The arrangement allows each object to stand out while still feeling cohesive, creating a sense of movement and flow. The piece captures the essence of coastal beauty and elegance through these choices.
