

“New York City”

I have always been fascinated with New York city; I think nits a beautiful city and there is so much to explore. I have been twice, and I always keep wanting to go back. Most people do like This city after going due to how much walking there is and how expensive everyday items can be, but for me I find it fascinating. The landscape, nature, the stores, and the people. I think most individuals believe New Yorkers are not nice, but every time I have gone and talked to people from there they are so sweet and make time to have a conversation with me and guide me through the city.